

GRAPHITE PUBLICATIONS

Founded in 2013, Graphite Publications is Montreal-based online platform for young individuals who share a passion for challenging ideas and embracing the avant-garde. Our goal is to bridge the voice of the millennial generation with humanity's universal curiosities. The result has been a literary intersection of culture, music, science, and politics, supported by a community of thinkers and doers in Montreal and beyond.

Position: Writer

This is a flexible, unpaid position. Writers will have the opportunity to gain free entry to events, access for exclusive interviews, and valuable journalistic experience.

DUTIES:

- Contributing articles of 400-1500 words on topics relevant to one of our sections (Culture, Music, Politics & Opinion, Sci+Tech, Essays) once a month or more
- Liaising with section editors, respecting the publication schedule and guidelines
- Occasionally attending meetings and events

QUALIFICATIONS:

- Strong writing and research skills
- In-tune with contemporary issues, culture, and global trends
- Independent self-starter, able to meet deadlines
- Creativity, ability to think outside the box

HOW TO APPLY:

Send a short letter describing your interests, experience, and self to graphitepublications@gmail.com